What Scott's Emulsion Has Done

Over 25 Pounds Gain in 10 Weeks.
Experience of a Prominent Citizen.

THE CALIFORNIA SOCIETY FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF VICE, SAN FRANCISCO, July 11th, 1886.
I took a severe cold upon my chest and lungs and did not give it proper attention; it developed into bronchitis, and in the fall of the same year I was threatened with consumption. Physicians ordered me to a more congenial climate, and I came to San Francisco. Soon after my arrival I commenced taking Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites regularly three times a day. In ten weeks my weight increased from 155 to 180 pounds and over, the cough meantime ceased.

C. R. BENNETT.

PARADISE OF HORRORS.

The Convict Days of the Beautiful Island of Tasmania.

Although One of the Earth's Most Favored Spots, Its Inhabitants Preferred Death to Living—Port Arthur and Its Charming Surroundings.

The Island of Van Dieman's Land, as it was originally called, or Tasmania, as it is now termed, was first discovered by the navigator Tasman, who landed on the peninsula which still bears his name in the year 1642. This peninsula is joined to the main land by an isthmus called Eagle Hawk Neck, and here is shown on the hard rock the impression of a boot and a round hole side by side, supposed to have been made by the discoverer's left foot and right wooden leg respectively.

That no footprint appear leading from the shore inland is accounted for by saying that Tasmania was so overcome by the beauty of the scene before him that he fell backward, says a correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle. The scenery of the peninsula is certainly very fine. In several places are found tessellated pavements as regular as though constructed by Roman builders. These are the bases of basaltic columns which have now disappeared under the influence of wave and storm.

At the neck in the old days when Tasmania was used by the British as a convict settlement, was placed a strong guard of constables, who were further assisted in their work of keeping his Majesty's prisoners secure by numbers of large and ferocious dogs, who were kept at various suitable spots, often on stags erected in the water.

When any prisoner attempts to escape by this neck, the only way to the main land, the dogs barked loudly and alarmed the constables on guard, who put out in boats manned by convicts of known good character, and cut off the prisoner's retreat. Besides the dogs on the stags erected in the water, others were chained at the narrowest part of the isthmus in such a way as just to meet, thus rendering it impossible for one to pass without being torn to pieces.

Sentries, too, were always at hand with loaded guns. To render escape by swimming impossible, the sharks, which haunted the waters, were well fed daily so as to keep them at the spot. A terrible description, chiefly drawn from official reports, diaries of chaplains, note-books and other official data, is given of the life of the convicts in the old days of Macquarie Harbor, which was a dreadful spot. The entrance to the harbor was called Hell's Gate, and the penal settlement itself Hell-Upon-Earth, and well do these ill-omened names seem to have been deserved.

It is related that the tortures and privations of convicts were so intolerable that many of them committed murder in order that they might be executed, and thus released from their misery. Unlike the neighborhood of Port Arthur, the country around Macquarie Harbor was utterly devoid of all sustenance for men, and bodies of desperate convicts sometimes banded together to escape, and when want of food prevented their proceeding further east into the bush, they should be killed, and sustained life a little while longer on the flesh of their murdered comrade.

One Pearce escaped from Macquarie Harbor and got as far as Hobart Town, but was there arrested and sent back. He and a man named Cox worked together in the same gang. Cox often begged Pearce to run away with him from the settlement, but for a long time Pearce refused. At last Cox managed to procure a knife, some fish-hooks, an axe and some burnt rag tinder, and he and Pearce made their escape together.

For some days they strayed through the forest, and on the fifth day arrived at King's river. In the woods near this river they stayed for some days in order to avoid the pursuit of the soldiers who were searching for them, and during all this time they were entirely without food. Pearce at last determined to take his comrade's life and killed Cox with a blow of the axe while he lay asleep.

The soldiers having gone off in another direction, Pearce lived for a few days in the hut abandoned by them upon the flesh of his murdered companion; but unable to bear his own life, he returned to the settlement and signaled for the pilot, who took him back to Macquarie Harbor, where he was hanged. Cox, the commandant and signified his willingness to die.

In 1873 there were still a few hundred convicts left in Port Arthur, the penal settlement on Tasman's Peninsula. This peninsula is covered with dense scrub and gigantic gum trees, and formerly there were several thousand convicts there. Communication was kept up all over the peninsula by semaphores, or posts with movable arms. Each of these was in charge of a trustworthy convict, who had a code of signals. Port Arthur and its neighborhood are very pretty, and now that convicts are no longer sent out there it is rapidly becoming a favorite holiday resort and a fashionable watering-place, and numbers of honest, energetic settlers are clearing away the brush and forming homesteads. The name of Port Arthur, linked with dreadful associations as it was, has wisely been changed to that of Carnarvon, and under the new regime the once hated spot now furnishes a home for scores of happy families. The old dungeons and prison buildings are fast falling into decay, and soon all but a few traces, interesting to antiquarians, of the former use of the place will be obliterated.

Steel Lace for Summer.
You would never guess to look at a girl nowadays, says the New York Mail and Express, what it is that she is wearing about her neck and peeping out from her pretty puffed sleeves. Lace! Yes, collars have gone by, but lace and collars alike will in July like flowers in the face of the sun, and her fixings do not fear to meet his ardent gaze at all. Why should they when they are made of steel? Steel lace is the newest novelty of all things odd. Sounds queer to talk of putting such a yoke about one's neck voluntarily, does it not? But look a second time and see. The steel lace has meshes as soft, a pattern as intricate and delicately woven, a thread as fine and delicate of every sort as perfect as if done in silk. It is light and cobwebby in texture, too, floating on the breeze if a breath strikes it. It is cool, it is durable, it comes in any color you fancy; what more could

BATTLE OF ORISKANY.

The Most Obstinate of All the Sanguine Fights of the Revolution.

About two miles west of Oriskany, the road was crossed by a deep semi-circular ravine, concave toward the east. The bottom of this ravine, writes Prof. John Fiske in the Atlantic, was a swamp, across which the road was carried by a causeway of logs, and the steep banks on either side were thickly covered with trees and underbrush. The practiced eye of Thayendaganeas at once perceived the rare advantage of such a position, and an ambushade was soon prepared with a skill as deadly as that which once had wrecked the proud army of Braddock. But this time it was a meeting of Greek with Greek, and the wiles of the savage chief were foiled by a desperate valor which nothing could overcome. By ten o'clock the main body of Herkimer's army had descended into the ravine, followed by the wagons, while the rear-guard was still on the rising ground behind. At this moment they were greeted by a murderous volley from either side, while Johnson's Greens came charging down upon them in front, and the Indians, with frightful yells, swarmed in behind and cut off the rear guard, which was thus obliged to retreat to save itself. For a moment the main body was thrown into confusion, but it soon rallied and formed itself in a circle, which the bayonet charges and musket fire could break or penetrate. The scene which ensued was one of the most infernal that the history of savage warfare has ever witnessed. The dark ravine was filled with a mass of fifteen hundred human beings, revelling and cursing, slipping in the mire, pushing and struggling, seizing each other's throats, stabbing, shooting and dashing out brains. Bodies of neighbors were afterwards found lying in the bog, where they had gone down in a desperate grapple, their cold hands still grasping the knives plunged in each other's hearts.

Early in the fight a musket-ball slew Herkimer's horse, and shattered his own leg just below the knee; but the old hero, notwithstanding, and with a yelp of his coolness in the midst of the horrid struggle, had the saddle taken from his dead horse and placed at the foot of a great beech-tree, where, taking his seat and lighting his pipe, he continued shouting his orders in a steatonic voice and directing the progress of the battle. Nature presently enhanced the lurid horror of the scene. The heat of the August morning had been intolerable, and black thunder-clouds, overhanging the deep ravine at the beginning of the action, had enveloped it in a darkness like that of night. Now the rain came pouring in torrents, while gusts of wind howled through the tree-tops, and sheets of lightning flashed in quick succession, with occasional roar of thunder that drowned the din of the fray. The wet rifles could no longer be fired, but hatchet, knife and bayonet carried on the work of butchery, until, after more than five hundred men had been killed or wounded, the Indians, and some of the Tory soldiers, and the Tory soldiers, disconnected, began to retreat up the western road, while the patriot army, remaining in possession of the hard-won field, felt itself too weak to pursue them.

At this moment, as the storm cleared away and long rays of sunshine began flickering through the wet leaves, the sound of the three signal-guns came booming through the air, and presently a sharp knocking of musketry was heard in the direction of Port Stanwix. Startled by this ominous sound, the Tories made all possible haste to join their own army, while the patriots, bearing their wounded on litters of green boughs, returned in sad procession to Oriskany. With their commander helpless and more than one-third of their number slain or disabled, they were in no condition to engage in a fresh conflict, and unwillingly confessed that the garrison at Fort Stanwix must be left to do its part of the work alone. Upon the arrival of the messengers Colonel Carpenter had at once taken in the whole situation. He understood the mysterious firing in the forest, saw that Herkimer must have been prematurely attacked, and ordered his sortie instantly, to serve as a diversion. The sortie was a brilliant success. Sir John Johnson, with his Tories and Indians, was completely routed and driven across the river. Colonel Marinus Willett took possession of his camp, and held it while seven wagons were three times loaded with spoil and sent to be unloaded in the fort. Among all this spoil, together with abundance of food and drink, blankets and clothes, tools and ammunition, the victors captured five British standards, and all Johnson's papers, maps and memoranda, containing full instructions for the projected campaign. After this useful exploit, Colonel Willett returned to the fort and hoisted the captured British standards, while over them he raised an uncouth flag, intended to represent the American stars and stripes, which the Congress had adopted in June as the National banner. This rude flag, hastily extemporized out of a white shirt, an old blue jacket, and some stripes of red cloth from the petticoat of a soldier's wife, was the first African flag with stars and stripes that was ever hoisted, and it was first sung to the breeze on the memorable day of Oriskany, August 6, 1777.

All the battles of the revolution, this was perhaps the most obstinate and murderous, and wide spread to have lost no less than one-third of its whole number; and of those lost, nearly all were killed, as it was largely a hand-to-hand struggle, like the battles of ancient times, and no quarter was given on either side. The number of nursing wounded, who were carried back to Oriskany, does not seem to have exceeded forty. Among these was the indomitable Herkimer, whose shattered leg was so unskillfully treated that he died a few days later, sitting in bed propped by pillows, calmly smoking his Dutch pipe and reading his Bible at the thirty-eighth Psalm.

Two Fridays in One Week.
A day is added or taken from the calendar when a ship is crossing the Pacific Ocean. Those who remember this fact will be interested in the following extract from the journal of a traveler on his way from China to San Francisco. "We ran a northerly course at first, going as high as forty-seven degrees fifty-eight minutes north, in which latitude we crossed the one hundred and eightieth degree of longitude on July 9, and consequently had two Fridays and eight days in the week. This fairly puzzled one of our party, who came to breakfast in a bewildered state of mind, asking whether to-day was yesterday or tomorrow, and declaring that he had certainly gone to bed on Friday night, and yet had got up again on Friday morning! For my own part I must say that it looks very strange to see in my diary 'Friday, 9, July, No. 1,' 'Do, do, No. 2.'"

A novel means of destroying caterpillars and other animated pests of trees and shrubbery is the juice of the leaves and stems of tomato plants. Boil the leaves and stems of the tomato until the juice has been extracted and pour this upon the afflicted shrubs and trees.

GAZETTE AND STOCKMAN—The best and cheapest weekly.

Hardly Legitimate.

The report is current that a very strong effort is being made to induce the authorities to build a dormitory at the University. The GAZETTE does not believe that a careful and conscientious Board of Regents such as ours can be induced to favor the scheme. Students are getting board and lodging in excellent families in Reno at bare cost, and the walk morning and evening is simply healthful exercise. The plea that it is the duty of some one to have constant supervision of the young ladies and gentlemen is not tenable. A child who cannot be trusted to walk to and from the school is not fit company for others, and should be expelled. To spend the people's money to erect boarding houses while it is so badly needed for legitimate educational purposes is wholly unwarranted and should be condemned. Any one would prefer walking into town to staying on that lonesome hill all night, and it would be empty after it was built. Boarders there would be denied all evening amusements and the benefits of church, theaters, concerts, etc. Let the money be used for educating the children, and let the boarding house wait until it is needed.

GERMANY is not represented in the Paris Exposition. It seems odd to us on this side that it should be so. Generally when brave men or nations quarrel and fight, they at last settle their dispute on some ground, and after that there is peace. France and Germany are not that way. Their feud it seems will never be ended until one or the other shall be wiped out of existence. Germany is sullen toward France even in her triumph; France in her defeat represents merely a volcano the fires of which have been temporarily banked. It is most unfortunate, for it necessitates the making of each country one vast barracks. One-sixth of the able-bodied men in each country are kept perpetually standing guard lest an invasion may be sprung by the other. It is a pity, but it will apparently never be changed.

A CORRESPONDENT declares that the old-time "hoodlum" of the Pacific coast has disappeared, and that a miserable, self-deceiving, impotent and nerveless being has taken his place—the opium fiend. The correspondent sets up a plea for this wretch; that is, that he be left severely alone, since he is not capable evidently of reproducing his kind, has no muscular vigor, cannot commit offenses involving strength, such as vicious assaults, and will shortly blot himself out. That may be, but, unfortunately, if no check is put upon the spread of the opium habit, it will continue to do as it is now doing—constantly gather in a new and a greater number of victims—until we will have a class of unfortunate miscreants who were hoodlums, not specially vicious, but will be hopeless dependents.

It is quite amusing to see the Enterprise lash itself into a half-column leader to reply to an eight-line squib that recently appeared in the GAZETTE relative to its position on the early-closing law. It squirms and wriggles all around the subject, and finally leaves it where it started in. It speaks, too, of its independence, but as to that—oh, well, never mind; the public knows.

The Last to Leave.

Under date of April 30th a Washington correspondent writes: This week Mr. Vilas and his family give up their Washington home and leave town for good. This is the last of the Cabinet houses of the Cleveland regime to close. All are now gone, and the face of society has gone through with the magic transformation that takes place in Washington every four years. Also, in a few days, the horses and stock of Oak View will be sold. [They were sold May 7th.] The horses are not much, except the pair of sorrels that Mrs. Cleveland used to drive to her plantation, and for which there will no doubt be a lively competition, as they were first-class roadsters for a lady to drive.

Le Caron Claims that Dr. Cronin Was Murdered.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Inter-State Commerce.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Before the Senate Inter-State Commerce Committee this morning, President Charles S. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce testified:

He referred to the fact that railroad building in India and about the Black Sea ports is being pushed rapidly. It is greatly feared under the present condition that it will not be long before America will have lost what little export trade it has had. He even advocated the carrying of occasional shipments of grain by railroad at less than cost when necessary. In regard to competition with the English steamship lines, Smith thought there was but small hope of successful competition unless the American lines receive a subsidy from the Government. "We have done it for the railroads, why not do it for the steamship lines? We must look beyond the railroads and towards the steamships unless we want to see our flag disappear altogether."

J. H. Herrick, Chairman of the Inter-State Committee of Produce Exchange, thought the inter-State law a good one in many respects, and that the position of the merchants under it is better than while "pooling" was in vogue. The penalty provided, however, was not severe enough. There was a tendency to discriminate against the seaboard points in favor of foreign ports; for instance, where the rate from Milwaukee to Liverpool was 19 cents, to New York it was 33 cents. "Without the Erie canal the rates would not be as regular as they are. The canal acts as a regulator, and we should not restrict the Canadian route for the same reason. We need them as a regulator, but they should be under the same government control as our own roads."

A Bloody Encounter.

BERLIN, May 10.—A sanguinary encounter occurred last night at Bochum, Westphalia, between the military and striking miners. Two were killed and many injured.

There was an encounter near Bracket, Westphalia, to-day between the troops and the strikers. A large body of the latter had gathered, and were becoming disorderly, when ordered to disperse by the militia. No attention being paid to the warning, the soldiers fired, killing three miners and wounding several.

Thinks He Has Been Murdered.

LONDON, May 10.—LeCaron, the spy for the British Government on the movements of the Irish leaders in America, and who testified for the Times before the Parnell Commission, declares that he and Dr. Cronin, who recently mysteriously disappeared from Chicago, were the closest friends. LeCaron believes Dr. Cronin has been killed, and that the friendship between himself and the murdered man may account for his removal.

Special Meeting.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A special meeting of the National Democratic Committee has been called for June 12th at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, for the purpose of electing a Chairman and to take appropriate action on the death of the late Wm. H. Barnum.

PITTSBURG, May 10.—The Window Glass Workers Association has issued an order to all the proprietors of the country that all foreign glass workers who come to this country hereafter will be blacklisted. It is alleged that they are being imported contrary to law.

A Badly Bungled Execution.

OSARK, Mo., May 10.—Three Bald Knobbers, Dave Walker, chief of the Bald Knobbers, his son, Wm. Walker, and John Mathews were hanged here at ten o'clock to-day for the murder of Chas. Green and Wm. Edens on March 11, 1887. The ropes broke and the three men fell to the ground struggling. It was a horrible butchery. The condemned were carried to the scaffold again at 10-10, and again dropped, but it was again bungled and the men hung by the neck, writhing and struggling and finally strangled to death. Dave Walker died in fifteen minutes, John Mathews in thirteen and Bill Walker in fourteen minutes.

Wm. Walker was baptized last evening by immersion in a bath basin carried into the jail. The scene was affecting. John Mathews made a long prayer, which could be distinctly heard in the street fronting the jail. The two Walkers retired about 11 o'clock and went to sleep, and did not wake until after 4 o'clock. They were up early and ate their breakfast at the usual hour. The jail yard was full of guards armed with Winchester rifles, shot-guns and revolvers. Divine services were opened in the jail at 7-30 o'clock, Mathews and Wm. Walker taking part. At 8-53 the Sheriff entered the jail and read the death warrant to the doomed men. Soon after they were dressed for the execution. For the past two weeks powerful pleas have been made to the Governor for a commutation of the sentences of the three men, and Wednesday last, after reviewing the case at length, the Governor declined to interfere, and the condemned were notified they must die. The arrest, trial and conviction of the Bald Knobber leaders has attracted a wide-spread attention, and for the first time in the history of the State the organization was made public. Janey county, Mo., was the birthplace of this order of masked regulators. It is in the wildest section of the State, and the early days of lawlessness caused the formation of leagues for the protection of life and property. At a point eight miles east of Ozark and near the Edens dwelling one John Evans was whipped by Bald Knobbers for misbehaving in church.

Old man Eden, who was a friend of Evans, interfered and received several blows with a whip. Eden afterwards fearlessly denounced the Bald Knobbers, and on the night of March 11th a band of twenty-six of them proceeded to Eden's residence to punish the inmates. They first went to the house of Wm. Eden, but when finding no one there, proceeded to the house of James Eden, William's father. There were in the house at the time, the father, mother, son, daughter, daughter-in-law, son-in-law and two grandchildren. The Knobbers fired promiscuously into the house, killing young Mr. Eden and Charles Green, his brother-in-law, and leaving old man Eden on the floor for dead. A peculiar feature of the Bald Knobbers is that a majority of that band of regulators were devout church members. Chief Walker was a devout exponent of temperance and a generally devout man. The Bald Knobber Chief clung to the belief that the regulators were the champions of right, asserting that the Eden-Green killing was an unfortunate but unavoidable mistake.

Reciprocity Discussed.

Special to the GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The Senate Committee continued its investigation this morning into the relations of this coast with Canada. Edward M. Herrick, representing the Pacific Lumber Company, testified that lumber is being sold by the cargo at less than cost. The capacity of the mills in British Columbia is 200,000,000 feet and their market is wholly foreign.

There can be no further reduction in the price of lumber on this coast except at the expense of the British Columbia lumber can be sold in this market at $14 a profit. This is due to the paternal tendencies of the Dominion Government. In one year British Columbia could increase its capacity to supply the American market. The three factors in favor of the British Columbia manufacturers are cheaper lands, cheaper labor, the leasing of lands by the Dominion Government and, possibly, lower freights. If the barrier against British Columbia was thrown down American lumbermen would have to go out of the business.

E. B. Beck, a wholesale salmon packer, did not favor reciprocity with British Columbia, because the people there found no market for their own packed goods.

Found Guilty.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Interstate Commerce Commission to-day rendered a decision on the color line. A colored man complained that he bought a first-class ticket on a Georgia railroad, but was compelled to occupy an inferior car set aside for the blacks. The Commission holds that where roads have separate cars for the blacks they must be equal in every respect, and that the blacks must be given equal protection. The defendant road was found guilty of violating the law in these respects.

Taken Up for Debate.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The morning session of the Young Men's Christian Association started at 10 o'clock. Ira D. Sankey led the Bible study and song service. The report of the committee on the general report of the International Christian Conference was read and taken up for debate.

Telegram Received.

A telegram was received from the private Secretary to General Harrison expressing his regret that he could not be present.

Heavy Peach and Pear Crop.

DOVER, Del., May 10.—At the annual meeting of the Bureau of Information and Distribution of the Delaware Fruit Exchange, ex-Congressman Martin said the peach and pear crop, if all reports be true, will be so large as to require all the agencies of distribution to enable them to realize any profit.

Squeezed.

Amid all the happy noise and trumpeting of the centenary comes a gleam of humor in the story told by Chauncey Depeew of his adventures in trying to squeeze through the crowd to his place in company with ex-President Hayes. He says: "I appealed to one great big longshoreman, upon whose arm hung his best girl, and whom Mr. Hayes had been vainly endeavoring to budge. 'My good man,' said I, 'please let me pass.' This is Mr. Hayes, ex-President of the United States, and we must get a place in the procession before it can start and you be able to see what brought you here.' But it was useless. With a grunt and a shove the fellow responded: 'I don't give a d—!' If he's President of heaven he can't squeeze my girl."

Grain Elevators.

The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company has erected elevators along its line at the principal wheat delivery points. Formerly all the wheat was shipped in sacks at heavy expense to farmers, but now it will be shipped in bulk and sacked at Portland. Northern Pacific officials say their road will probably adopt the elevator system in Washington Territory in the wheat section also.

JOTTINGS.

The only real Havana mixed 5 cent cigar in town at Strasburg's. You can get vegetables of all kinds and fresh at that at Leadbeater's. Pianos, organs, accordions, flutes, flautolets at C. J. Brooks' Variety Store. Go to Lange & Schmitt's for garden hose, lawn mowers and ice cream freezers. Go to the Riverside Hotel for a good meal, a clean light room, a soft bed and first-class usage. J. F. Aitken is still supplying all patrons with the best limb, split and slab wood of any length desired. You can trust a child at Coffin & Larcom's to do your trading as well as the head of the family can do it. By taking your midday lunches at J. J. Becker's Chicago saloon, you save time, money and shoe leather. One of George Becker's hot soup lunches a glass of his Pacific or Frederickburg beer is all the noon meal you want. Send your orders to S. L. Cohoon for John Weiland's beer, in any quantity from a 50 gallon barrel to a quart bottle. Rubber and steel erasers, razor holders, harmonicas, call-bells, piano strings at C. A. Thurston's news depot. John Fraser's former customers were not long in finding his new place of business, for they know he deals in the best and never weighs his hand.

To Dispel Colds.

Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

An Expression of Delight.

"About a week ago," says a Los Angeles, Cal., druggist, "a Chinaman came in with a lame shoulder. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and guaranteed that it would cure him. He came in again last night, and as soon as he got inside the door began to swing his arms over his head like an Indian club swinger. I thought the blamed fool had a fit, but he finally stopped long enough to say: 'Medicine verry fine, verry fine; all same make me feel plenty good.' Chamberlain's Pain Balm is without an equal for sprains, rheumatism, aches, pains or lame back. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker."

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklin's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never had a remedy that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merit. S. J. Hodgkinson druggist.

In Three Days.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism, but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and I would urge on everyone who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for bruises, sprains, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Hodgkinson & Co., druggists.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create and foster the colds and aches of the season. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dandelion's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Fininger.

THE TAHOE CORNER.

What Must Be Done to Correct It—Trenmor Coffin Better—Senator Stewart on Irrigation—Young & Freble's Land Scheme—SAN FRANCISCO, May 8, 1889. EDITOR GAZETTE: Trenmor Coffin is getting better. I called on him at Dr. Lane's private hospital on Mission street the other day, and he showed me that his ankle, which was so badly crippled with rheumatism, is recovering its ability for movement. He thinks he will be able to get home within the next two weeks, though he does not expect to walk in that time without a cane. The surgeon says his ankle will be as good as new.

A writer in the Oakland Paraphrase declares that the action of the late California Legislature, giving Nevada three-quarters of a mile additional territory at Lake Tahoe corner is null and void, for the reason that it is in contravention of a congressional law. It admits that an error was made by Von Schmidt in his final survey, but avers that Congress ratified it and gave it validity.

The starting point of the survey was designated as "where the 35th parallel cuts the middle of the Colorado river." After this point was established the line was run to the Tahoe point. This being reached, a line was run on the back track, when it was discovered that the Colorado river had changed its bed at this point by the 35th parallel at least three-quarters of a mile.

It being represented to Congress that the Colorado river was liable to change its bed as often as a pretty girl changes her mind, the National Legislature decided that the Tahoe corner stand as already established, and permitted the surveyor to make an elbow in his line some place along the California eastern frontier. This does not appear in any of the maps, but it ought to.

Senators Stewart and Jones and Congressman Bartine might be able to get the sanction of Congress to the equitable action of the California Legislature if the subject should be called to their attention.

Ex-Congressman Woodburn told me the other day that he had heard that Frank Newlands had turned Republican, was going to build a big house in Reno and that his friends were announcing him as a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

Senator Stewart spoke before the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce yesterday, and in his remarks said it is easier and cheaper to irrigate a desert than to subside a forest. He combated the theory that irrigated lands are unhealthful as a place of residence.

The California papers seem to be troubled for fear Senator Stewart will get all the Government appropriations for hydrographic surveys expended in Nevada. That is one of the things they accuse him of trying to do, and warn the people that California is likely to be ignored in this regard.

The friends of Professor Young and General Freble will be glad to know that their land scheme is in good condition. They bought a large lot of land for $90,000, paying considerable money down and mortgaging the property for the balance, to be paid in four years. Since then they have sold $50,000 worth of land, taking mortgages payable in three years and a half, and have 700 acres left. All they have to do is to wait until those who purchased from them pay up, when they will pay the balance of the original $90,000 and start in laying out town sites on their own 700 acres.

WELLA DRIVE.

San Francisco Meat Market. Following are the rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers in San Francisco:

Beef—First quality, 5½¢@6¢; second quality, 5¢; third quality, 4½¢@5¢ per pound.
Veal—Quotable at 5¢@7¢ for large and 6¢@8¢ per pound for small.
Mutton—Quotable at 5¢@5½¢ per pound.
Lamb—Spring, 8¢@9¢ per pound.
Pork—Live Hogs, on foot, grain fed, 5½¢@6¢; soft, 5½¢@5½¢; dressed, 9¢@9½¢ per pound.

Cheap for Cash.

C. W. Borton of the Opera House Dry Goods Store has just returned from San Francisco with his second invoice of dry goods, boots, shoes, hats, caps and ready-made clothing, which has been bought for spot cash, and will be sold as cheap, if not cheaper, than the same quality of goods has ever been sold in Reno. Call and be convinced that you can purchase more goods and better goods for less money at a cash house than you can purchase elsewhere on the Pacific coast.

District Court.

The Grand Jury, which was in session yesterday, examined ten witnesses and found two indictments—one against Harry Lersin for burglary and larceny, and one against Lars Torgerson for selling whisky to an Indian. Harry Lersin, after the Grand Jury reported, requested to be brought before the Court and permitted to plead guilty, which he did. This morning he was sentenced to one and a half years in the penitentiary, where he will be taken to-morrow.

A Military Post.

At the University yesterday Miss Frey of the normal class asked her class what the red square indicated on the map, when one little fellow said that it was a military post. At this several hands were displayed, indicating that there were quite a number that could answer the question. Miss Frey said: "Well, John," addressing John Evans, "what is it?" "There is going to be a military post in Reno," answered John, taking his seat with a confident air.

Rodeo Postponed.

The Long Valley stockmen have postponed the rodeo for one week, until Monday, May 20, when they meet at G. W. Mapes' ranch in Honey Lake Valley and work the country round by Smoke Creek. A. E. Ross writes the GAZETTE that this was made necessary by the recent storm.

Ladies' Night.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the dog show on the first page of to-day's GAZETTE. It will be well worth seeing.

The Mount City Paint Company's colors are guaranteed the purest and strongest colors made. A. H. Manning, Reno agent.

Mrs. B. C. Leavitt arrived last evening from the Comstock with the remains of her late husband, on the way to Monmouth, Ill.

You can find any shade you want and all you require of the Mount City Company's colors and paints at A. H. Manning's, Reno, Nev.

A young man named Flash, while working at the resaw in Richardson's factory, at Truckee, Tuesday, got his hand caught in the gearing and his forearm was badly lacerated.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Alfalfa on the Western Slope of the Sierra.

The Kern county (Cal.) Echo says: It has been known for years that alfalfa did well in higher altitudes and withstood the frosts and snows of Winter, but it has been seriously questioned whether it would do well on the steep hillsides up in the mountains where there is no opportunity to give it more moisture than that derived directly from the clouds. When D. C. Mad-dux of Linn's Valley finished seeding his level land last year he had about fifteen pounds of alfalfa seed left. This he scattered about on two and a half acres of hillside land which he had first plowed as well as its surface and condition would permit. After sowing, the ground was slightly harrowed. This he did as an experiment, and to test the matter thoroughly he chose land that has both northern and southern exposure. The seeding was done in the month of March and much to his pleasure, most of the seed grew and thrived all summer. The alfalfa is now from six to ten inches high and is growing quite rapidly. The soil where he sowed the seed is a combination of adobe and decomposed granite, very heavy and rather inclined to be cold. The elevation is between four thousand and five thousand feet. Many other stock-raisers who have seen his field this spring express astonishment and satisfaction at the result of the experiment.

PERSONAL.

Hon. S. L. Cohoon and wife went below last evening.

Dr. S. L. Lee of Carson returned this morning from his Eastern trip.

Assemblyman Blakeslee of Winnemucca arrived on last night's overland.

A. L. Edwards, the insurance man, was down from the Comstock last evening.

Mrs. I. B. Marshall left last evening for California on business connected with the Old Ladies' Home.

Hon. S. C. Wright of Carson, who has been suffering with an attack of rheumatism, is able to be out again.

W. C. Dovey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was in town last night, and left for the East this morning.

Dick Little, advance agent of Reilly & Wood's specialty company, is in town to-day making arrangements for his company's appearance here on May 16th.

Joseph Fleming, who left Reno several years ago for New York State, has returned with a family, and will make this his permanent home. Mr. Fleming is a wagon-maker, and has the reputation of being a good one.

Come to Stay.

Dr. Phillips, who has resided here for a year, leaves to-night for Reno, Nevada, where himself and brother will open an office. Dr. Phillips is a physician of exceptional ability. Since his coming here he has built up a fine practice and made hosts of friends and acquaintances who, regretting his departure, wish him every success in his new field of adventure.

The above is from the Laramie Boomerang. Drs. W. A. and P. T. Phillips have concluded to locate here. They have rented an office in Sunderland's building, and will enter upon the practice of the profession at once. The GAZETTE wishes them success in their new field.

Fine Merchant Tailoring. At S. Jacobs. Suits made to order at $25, pants $7 and all kinds of garments made to order cheaper than ever before or elsewhere, and a good fit guaranteed. I have the finest selection of French and English cloths, direct importation. In connection with the above establishment I keep the finest assortment of underwear, gent's furnishing goods, hats, trunks, valises, etc. Call on me, you will buy more goods for less money than elsewhere, and of a better quality.

S. JACOBS, 16 Virginia street.

It was maintained by the late Horace Greeley, that "nothing succeeds like success." If this be true, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will always be popular, as it never fails. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is undoubtedly the best and most reliable medicine in use for those diseases. It is decidedly a success. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

It should be generally known that Dr. Henry's Dandelion Tonic imparts a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and wakefulness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by William Fininger.

THE NEW YORK CENTENNIAL.

A VENERABLE TURTLE.

An Account of the Parade by a Former Reno Lady.

The following extracts are taken from a letter written by Mrs. W. R. Jenvey to friends in Reno, and as it gives quite a graphic account of the Centennial celebration in New York, it is given to the public:

The Centennial has kept us on the qui vive all the time. We took it all in. Monday we went up to Mrs. Stevens and took in the naval parade. It was very disappointing from there. The vessels came up one by one, but were so far apart that it looked very ordinary. Mr. Terry had invited us to go on his tug, but I thought with the children it would be altogether safer and better to be where they could run around and enjoy themselves. If we had gone we would have seen a great deal more. The tug was down in the bay amongst all of the boats, and all could see the decorations of the ships and maneuvers of the men. But they got all the swells which made some of them sea-sick, some were splashed with water and the paint was rubbed off the tug by a big boat that ran into it. So, altogether, I have been thankful that we were on terra firma. Tuesday morning we left the house at 8 o'clock. We had no difficulty in reaching Fifth Avenue, although even then boats, street cars and streets were pretty well filled up. Mrs. Shippen's flat is just above the triumph arch, and the only part of Fifth Avenue that has asphaltum instead of stone, so we undoubtedly saw the best marching and evolutions, for it was so much easier for the soldiers on a smooth street. Indeed it was grand, and was eight hours passing us. First came the Governor DeWitt with his staff, and the dear old man with his long gray hair was cheered to the very echo. Then came the West Point cadets; they were superb, the finest marching I think that I ever saw. I will send you a book with the order of march, as I could not begin to enumerate. Ohio had more men, I think, than any other State, outside of New York, and Governor Foraker received a perfect ovation all along the line of march. The regiments from Louisville, Kentucky, were very beautiful. I remember the Louisville boys took the prize in San Francisco the time of the Knights Templar convocation. President Harrison did the proper thing very gracefully, but I think there was more cheering for Cleveland. Cleveland looked much better than his pictures represent him—not as gross as I had pictured him. They say that Mrs. Cleveland was the belle at the ball. If you could have seen the dense throng that was all along that street—women with little infants in their arms and little children standing in that crush—it would have made your heart ache. As we looked up and down the street there was one mass, one sea of heads. As we were in the third story windows we could look down upon them and see everything. When the President passed, we were on the stoop, so we could see his features perfectly. We could not have been more delightfully situated—we had easy chairs to sit in and silk cushions under our arms and on the window sills. We were regaled at different times during the day with bouillon, chicken salad, coffee, ice cream, cake, etc. We got home at 6 o'clock, tired out. When I saw how tired we were, I wondered how the people who stood all of the time could have endured it. Wednesday we saw the civic parade from the same place, and were entertained in the same charming manner, but that was nothing compared to the military, although there was good marching and many things that were really fine. Some of the floats were very beautiful. It took longer for it to come than the day before. We came home about 4 o'clock, without waiting for the end. I am glad that all of this merry-making is over, else I would never get ready for our trip home.

Useless Expenditure of Money.

Governor Waterman of California has instructed Private Secretary Boruck to write to Warden McComb and Anli, asking them to warn all prisoners applying for pardons against hiring lawyers or paying money to any one. He says it is perfectly and absolutely useless for any one to expend one single dollar in an effort to procure a pardon. All that is necessary is for an application to be made in conformity with the rules and regulations which have been issued for his office.

BE FOLLOWED SUIT.

My wife has been under physicians care for two years, for what they called "liver complaint." She would get some relief while taking prescriptions, but would soon fall back into the same dreary, inactive state. I got a bottle of "The California Remedy," Dr. J. C. Sargent's. It did her immediate good, and when three bottles had been taken she regained her old accustomed health and spirit and is now as well as ever. Seeing the benefit she derived, I used it for rheumatism with the result that I am now entirely free from the disease with which I had suffered for over a year.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Webfoot State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Fininger.

EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE: Please announce in the columns of your valuable paper that we are sole agents for St. Patrick's Pills, the most perfect cathartic and liver pills in the market. They not only purge, but cleanse the whole system; purify the blood and regulate the liver and bowels; they are vigorous but gentle in their action, and can always be depended upon. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Wm. W. Sargent's Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. 25 cents a bottle. [Yadw]
